

ORGANISING STYLES

Systemiser

Systemisers thrive on order and precision, finding emotional satisfaction in well-maintained, detailed systems. Clutter or disorganisation can feel overwhelming or chaotic, making their organising approach a grounding force in their lives.

Visibility

Prefers items to be hidden away, as visible clutter feels overwhelming or distracting.

Categorisation

Thrives on detailed, micro-categories (e.g., grouping clothing by colour, type, or season).

Maintenance

Willing to invest time into maintaining precise systems, such as file-folding clothing or alphabetising items.

How I Can Help: I'll design systems that are both detailed and practical, ensuring they don't become overly complex or time-consuming to maintain.
